DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3, 4, 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by French et al (US 5131387). French discloses a moisture trap attached to a tube comprising a passage 66, an inlet port 34, a liquid absorption member 86 surrounding the passage, a gas permeable and liquid impermeable filter 102 for blocking the passage at a position father than the liquid absorption member from the inlet port (Col. 5, lines 60-65, Col. 7, lines 43-47). See Fig. 3. The device comprises an exhaust hole 48. The device comprises an extension 42 that isolates the absorption member and the filter from each other. See Fig. 2. The device provides a flow control (Col. 6, lines 2-4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3763

4. Claims 5, 9, 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over French in view of Bell (US 5125415).

5. Claim 5 differs from French in calling for the filter to be made of a porous plastic resin material. Bell teaches a cap having a filter made of a porous plastic resin material (Col 2, lines 57-58). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify the device of French to have a filter formed of a porous plastic resin material as taught by Bell because it is well known in the art to use a porous plastic resin filter to allow the passage of gas and block the passage of fluid.

6. Claim 9 differs from French in calling for the cap to be attached to a liquid medicine reservoir having a pressure device. Bell teaches a syringe having a liquid medicine reservoir and a pressure device that allows the air to be purged from a syringe while preventing fluid from escaping. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify the device of French to include a syringe as taught by Bell.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
